Engineers with expertise in pool construction and rehabilitation evaluated the old pool and filtering systems.
Conclusion: —No guarantee that temporary repair could meet state health and safety standards.

—Rehabilitation would cost approximately $1

The Park District's current taxing powers preclude taking the cost of rehabilitation from existing revenues. Therefore, passage of the bond issue is necessary.

Redistricting this year has divided the Granite City area among three state representative districts and two state senate districts. The redistricting led to the retirement of Rep. Sam Wolf, who had represented this area for many years, and means voters in the Granite City area are seeing the names of some veteran legislators on the ballot for the first time.

first time.

Rep. Jim McPike, currently the majority leader in the Illinois House, has represented the Alton area well in the legislature for many years. We would expect he will provide the same high level of representation for the portions of the Granite City area now in his district. This year, McPike received awards from both labor and small-business organizations, so he obviously understands economics in general and jobs in particular. Voters should re-elect Jim McPike as representative for the 111th District.

Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke has assembled a first-rate forensic team that is universally praised by law enforcement agencies and is the envy of every county in the stafe. At the same time, she has kept the coroner's office accessible to everyone and, as often as not, still answers her own telephone. Voters should re-elect Dallas Burke as coroner.

Madison County Auditor Fred Bathon and his office have been subjected to relentless scrutiny this year. While his office has not been found perfect — few things are, when viewed under a powerful microscope — Bathon's speed in correcting even the smallest flaws and the most meaningless omissions shows that perfection is Bathon's goal. Voters should re-elect Fred Bathon as Madison County auditor. Although he does not have a ballot opponent in this election, Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine deserves the support of voters for his strong stances in favor of families and victims and against crime and criminals. Voters should let Bill Haine know they think he is doing a great job.

We'recommend a "Yes" vote to retain in office A. Ahdreas "Andy" Matoesian as a 3rd Circuit Court judge.

As we said in earlier editorials, we also urge a "Yes" vote to create the proposed Lakeside 'Airport Authority and a "Yes" vote to issue $1,888,000 in bonds to construct a new swimming pool in Granite City's Wilson Park.

Tribute to a missed friend

If, as John F. Kennedy said, life isn't fair, then death must be an absolute travesty. Bill Bagby should have turned 30 years old last Friday. Bill, who was a reporter for the Press-Record/Journal at the time of his death in February 1988, should have been here to inject some humanity into a long, cold, hard, nasty election year. As everyone who remembers Bill — as well as anyone who ever read his stories—already knows, these are the times we need Bill the most.

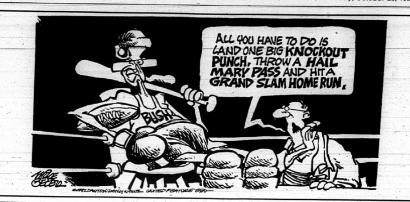

For Bill Bagby, everyone and everything was given equal mportance — "very important." If it was important to you, our family, your organization, your business, your government, your life, your whatever, then it was very important to ment, your life, your whatever, then it was very important to Bill ment, your life, your whatever, then it was very important to Bill If Bill Bagby ever had an enemy, he never knew it Like Will Rogers, Bill never met a man he didn't like and Bill took it even farther and included women, children, dogs and even politicians and lawyers on his list.

If Bill Bagby wasn't on track for a Pulitzer Prize, it was only because he represented the very best in humanitarian journalism. Bill wasn't afraid to tell the story, but he never practiced "shock" or "ambush" journalism. Even on deadline, Bill was always willing to let everyone catch their breath, stop and think and even retract statements or charges made in foolish haste.

For Bill, the whole story meant giving everyone a chance to save face. The resulting stories may not have always been excetting, but they were always fair.

For our sake, Bill Bagby should have turned 30 last week. And for our sake he should have turned 31 next year and 32 the year after that and so on and so on until a ripe old age well into the next century. If we accept that God's plan for Bill was the right one, it is only because Bill's own strong belief in a fair and righteous God makes that acceptance possible. We miss you, Bill Bagby, And, although you are safe in God's hands we selfishly wish you were still here with us.

Protect engine with cooling system

Did you know that the combustion temperature inside your-hood can reach 4,500 degrees?

That's hotter than Georgia asphalt. Without a cooling system as a stability of the cooling system and your engine would melt.

The cooling system also stabilizes the engine's operating temperature and provides heat for passive the core was a liquid cooling system with antifreeze, usually a 50-50 mixture of water and ethylene glycol.

Antifreeze lowers the coolant's freezing temperature and raises the coolant of the proper proportions in your radiator all-year round.

Here's how the typical systems works:

Your water pump draws the coolant of the raises from the passages in the engine block, where it picks up heat. The heat-do coolant leaves the engine through an upper hose and coolant leaves the engine through an upper hose and coolant leaves the engine through the rows of tubes connected to metal cooling fins.
